

Three New Dates for Cruise Job Fairs in 2017 Revealed

Building on the success of previous job fairs in London, Berlin and Liverpool, media agency Webix Ltd have unveiled three new dates for 2017 that will offer cruise lines and recruitment agencies ample opportunities to promote their services and mingle with potential candidates.

Each event to date has brought over 600 job seekers through the door, who were able to meet representatives from leading cruise lines as well as numerous recruitment agencies and training centres.

And they are on track to replicate this success in 2017!

Offering events in Berlin, London and Liverpool, each of these job fairs has the potential to become the biggest in the cruise industry, as they'll attract hundreds of aspiring candidates.

As Managing Director of Webix, Jay Dravecky explains: "Our previous job fairs have proven to be a great success as they are not only an opportunity for candidates to meet and speak to recruiters; they also offer candidates the chance to find out about different training options.

Similarly, these job fairs are an excellent networking platform for recruiters, HR managers and marine training centres, as within one location they'll have access to like-minded individuals and companies who they can share experiences and tips with."

Confirmed dates for 2017 are:

- 24th February 2017 – Berlin (Estrel Congress & Messe Center)
- 22nd May 2017 – London (Business Design Centre)
- 3rd November 2017 – Liverpool (Arena and Convention Centre)

Webix are now extending invites to cruise lines, recruitment agencies and training centres across the world, inviting them to take advantage of the growing interest this career industry is experiencing.

"The German cruise market is rapidly growing, hence our decision to choose Berlin as one of our job fair locations." – Jay Dravecky, Managing Director

Yet Webix recognises the need for instruction and guidance - especially amongst new applicants - which is why they hope to transform these events into a mutually beneficial meeting zone. For candidates, they can discover the correct routes for applying, training and interviewing, and for recruiters, these fairs present the chance to broaden their portfolios and find potential gems.

Webix would like to take this opportunity to thank Viking Cruises for sponsoring the Berlin job fair this year.

For more information on these fairs and to book a stand, visit www.cruisejobfair.com.

About Webix Ltd

Based in Bristol (UK), Webix are an online media company who specialises in cruise ship, superyacht and marine online recruitment. Owners of three job boards – All Cruise Jobs (a leading job board for the cruise industry); yaCrew (a popular job board for superyachts) and Sea Career (a growing job board for marine and offshore jobs) – their goal is to assist candidates in the preparation and application for roles within this industry.

For further news on upcoming cruise job fairs, contact Webix Sales Manager Debbie Bartlett on debbie@webix.co.uk or 0117 214 0924.