

Press Release – Miami Cruise Job Fair 2019

6 November 2019

Last Cruise Job Fair for 2019

Sponsored by Viking

Viking, Disney Cruise Line, MSC Cruises, Carnival Cruise Line, Royal Caribbean Cruise Line, Norwegian Cruise Line and the American Queen Steamboat Company are just some of the leading cruise lines who will be attending the final Cruise Job Fair of the year, taking place in Miami, Florida on Friday, 6 December at the James L. Knight Center.

Miami is an obvious choice for a Cruise Job Fair as it hosts the largest cruise terminal in the world and the Greater Miami area is home to a number of cruise lines. Many Cruise Job Fairs have already taken place in major cities including London, Rome, Madrid, Budapest and Berlin.

Jay Dravecky, Managing Director of Webix Ltd says: “We are delighted to be bringing the Cruise Job Fair to Miami for the first time and we look forward to welcoming cruise lines, recruiters, concessionaires, and other organisations within the cruise industry, as well as good quality candidates who are looking to work and travel abroad.”

Cruise line recruiters will be hoping to meet experienced and enthusiastic candidates for a wide range of positions on board cruise ships covering all departments including entertainment, retail, spa and beauty, food and beverage, accommodation and guest services. It is a unique networking platform that enables candidates to speak face-to-face with the recruiting teams, hand over their resumes in person and discuss any job opportunities or training requirements.

On the day candidates can get advice on how to strengthen their resume and interview skills, find out if training will be required and where to find it, understand if there are specific requirements for positions they are interested in and discuss any current vacancies.

Dravecky adds: “Candidates who attend a job fair are ten times more likely to be offered a position following the event, compared to simply applying online. It is a fantastic opportunity to let your personality shine through and make an excellent impression on the recruiters that you meet in this unique setting”.
